

WHO'S WHO IN THE DEPARTMENT

My name is Miss Wealleans, and I am the Head of Ethics. Ethics is all about the things that make us awesome human beings with a bright future; health, careers, religion, relationships and what it means to be British. I love this subject as it really makes me think about life, and about how I can make it better (for me and for you!) I am really looking forward to helping you all to blossom as you grow up at Bulwell Academy Ethics is a new subject that includes lots of things that you will have looked at before; your future, your health, your links with other people, religion and how to be an awesome person.

Task 1: Introduce yourself to the staff at your new school. You can do this by making a poster or by writing a paragraph or a set of bullet points about the kind of person you are and the kind of student that you are. This might give you some ideas about the kinds of things you could include. Please make sure you bring this with you when you start

Task 2: Think a little bit about the topics we cover in Ethics. Choose one of the tasks below (A, B or C)

A – future you

Draw a picture of you in 30 years, when you'll be around 40. Try to include:

- What job you'd like to be doing
- The family you'd like to have
- The house you'd like to be living in
- The things you'd like to be doing for fun

You

should draw all of this, but you should also label it to make it really clear!

B – healthy you

Either design a poster or write a paragraph which shows what a person like you can do to stay as physically healthy as possible. Think about:

- Diet
- Exercise
- Bad habits and good habits

You should do a bit of research to make sure that there is some accurate information in your work.

C – happy you

Mental health is really important, and you sometimes have to work hard to look after your mental health.

Either design a poster or write a paragraph giving advice on what a person can do to stay happy and positive.

Speak to as many people as you can about what they do to stay happy and positive – that way you will have lots of ideas to use.

You could do some research on the internet too!
